

Helin M Frank

Dear Bill,

Sept. 20, 1948

When I woke up this morning, I thought I was still asleep and dreaming. Then I remembered - the summer is over and I'm at Madison College.

On the way to breakfast I watched the sun wake up the gray buildings with their red roofs. Here in the valley the leaves have already started to turn, and the whole campus seemed to stretch to meet the morning.

All day long the "Hi's" and "Hey's" have echoed across the quadrangle, and the friendliness makes one feel good inside.

Tomorrow we start in earnest, with registration for classes, so I guess I'd better say good night. Madison is wonderful - I only hope I don't wake up tomorrow morning and find that it really is just a dream.

Love,
Sue

This is our Alma Mater--

Oh, Alma Mater, to thy name
We'll ever faithful be,
Lift learning's torch to brighter flame,
Shed Honor's light on thee.

Where mountain blue meets sunset glow,
Our college stands serene,
With passing years its friendships grow
In memory ever green.

Oh, Madison, may wisdom clear
Guide us and prosper thee.
We give thee, Alma Mater dear,
Our love and loyalty,
Our love and loyalty.

We are dedicating this SCHOOLMA'AM 1949 to our faculty because they are so much a part of Madison College. As teachers and as friends, they are a part of the classrooms, of the club meetings, and of the social affairs.

As freshmen we met this faculty first at the President's reception, and as seniors we talked with them together last at the President's garden party. In between, we became close friends over coffee in the Tea Room and on field trips back campus. Every Wednesday we sat with them in assembly; and every Sunday we sat with them in church.

We are dedicating this book to the faculty because they have done their bit to make us "as cornerstones, polished after the similitude of a palace." They have taught us and helped us and loved us; and this is our small, but sincere "thank you."

What would we do without our P. O.? We pass through here twenty times a day—on the way to store for notebook paper and Lux, and, always, into Box 687, U M, or Box 466, J O . . . .

Foreword

Within these pages is registered the pulse of Madison College. It is a pulse that is taken carefully and lovingly, so as not to break it with a touch, by students and faculty members alike. It is the same pulse that beats in the trembling excitement of a new freshman and in the breath-held expectation of the P. O. lobby; it is the pulse that is felt in the awe of a too-lovely Valley sunset and in the tear-filled heart of a graduating senior.

Such is the spirit of Madison which we have tried to capture in pictures and write into letters—letters not to Bill from Sue, but letters to anyone "back home" from anyone at Madison who has known the relentless, yet satisfying pulse.

Wilson Hall—

To the casual passer-by it is the center of the college—the nucleus—the core of this institutional collection of buildings, of faculty, of students. This is Wilson Hall, our administration building . . . the place where the heart, the mainspring, of Madison College, lies. Here are the answers to "Why, and how does, and is Madison?" Here are the offices of our president, our dean, our treasurer, and our registrar—each a vital part of the college itself.

And to most of the students it is the building of classrooms, of English tests and art lessons and biology and anatomy and psychology; to the dramatics students—the auditorium and "All the world's a stage . . ."—to the music students—the rich mellow tones of the organ.

And still it stands, a majestic centerpiece on a green table of campus . . .

--Forty-Niners Find Goal

June, 1949

Dear Bill,

I guess reminiscing is characteristic of the members of the SENIOR CLASS, for suddenly I find the past four years I have spent here at Madison all crowding into a few minutes. With a little ache somewhere down deep inside me, I recall jaunts down town for supper; bridge parties; feasts after lights out; phone calls and boxes from home; Saturday night movies; and even fire drills in the middle of the night when we all piled out half asleep with gooey faces and put-up hair. Perhaps they are silly little things to remember, Bill, but I guess the little things are the most important after all, for they seem to pull at your heart strings and tie them very tightly to places and things.

My first days at Madison are like a dream now. I seem to remember something about rain and lines of people. There were lots of both. Gosh, Bill, we were mighty green! But it wasn't long before we were holding our own with upper-classmen, for it was Jane Grant, a freshman, who won the open tennis tournament that year. Beauty was also discovered among us in the person of Jackie Hodnett, New-Girl Bride. Originality and cleverness were not lacking in our Freshman Class either. Proof of this is found in a term paper, entitled "From Pantaloons to Scanties," written by a Freshman. Our blackface class night was other tangible proof of unique talent, the leading character being a chicken thief. Mr. and Mrs. Partlow and Ben proved their "mettle" that year too, for we were thoroughly convinced we couldn't have chosen better sponsors or mascot.

And then it was June . . .

We, like all Sophomores, suffered from some sort of a complex—definitely not an inferior one, though, for we set out to do big things that year. Much credit goes to Marianna Howard, our class president, for the recreation room that was set up in Ashby Gym, a project that is now inherited by each successive sophomore class.

MYRA FENSTERWALD
President

Two important things were introduced on campus that year, too—men students and an honor system. The honor system made us a little more aware of our sense of honor and the men made us a little more aware of our dress and appearance. Early spring found us in traditional blackface for class night at Harlem University.

And then it was June . . .

Junior year was ushered in with a flourish as skirts get longer and longer. Betty Weller presided over us that year as we entertained at tea for the Westhampton basketball team and at luncheon for Madame Silvercruz, our class day speaker. Class night program was again done in blackface, with skits of famous men in history.

Then a big thrill came to us when we nominated and elected major officers. They were all such grand girls—our girls—that it was hard to choose between them. With the excitement of elections past, it wasn't long until we found ourselves in the midst of moving-up exercises, soon to be Seniors!

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS. First row: J. Tysinger, secretary; F. Weeks, vice-president; M. Fensterwald, president; M. Eggborn, treasurer.
Second row: Ben Partlow, Jr., mascot; Mrs. Partlow, Mr. Partlow, advisors; N. Carter, sergeant-at-arms; J. Snowden, reporter; M. Holland, business manager

And then it was June . . .

September, for some of us Seniors, meant student teaching or Home Management House, but for everyone it meant stacks of books to be read and papers to be written. And this year we got not only a new Senior banner, but a new Senior president, Biddy Fensterwald.

Capping and gowning was entered into with great ceremony, but the real thrill came when we marched into the auditorium in those academic robes on class day. That night we Forty-Niners centered our program around the Gold Rush.

May brought May Day and you remember, Bill, what a lovely May Court our girls made, and what a good time we had at the May Day Dance that night. That reminds me, will you be able to come up for graduation dance? I know this is a busy time for you too, but I do hope you can slip away.

Now that graduation's here, Bill, I'm not so sure I want to leave. I always thought it was sort of silly and sentimental to go soft at the sound of the "Alma Mater," but the other day in assembly when we were singing my throat actually closed up and I couldn't see a thing. I guess I must have the graduation blues because:

Now it is June.

Love,
Sue

Who's Who Among Madison Students?

Dear Bill,

Who's Who has been announced!

This year Madison College is honored in the annual of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges by a representation of thirteen seniors. The recognition conferred on the outstanding group is one of the most highly prized rewards on campus.

Who's Who insures commendation for those who have been outstanding during their four years at college. These girls have been chosen on the merits of high scholarship, leadership, fine character, and their contributions to Madison College.

The Who's Who award provides an incentive for a goal well worth the striving; it is a concrete indication of distinctive scholastic and extra-curricular achievement. The bestowal of this recognition commands respect for the student all over the world. The annual publication of Who's Who forms an integral part of college and professional life of the future.

We feel that we may be justly proud of these seniors; they richly deserve this honor.

Proudly,
 Sue

Junior hits and misses

May, 1949

Well, Bill—

Today the JUNIOR CLASS moved up into the seats of honor, for the Juniors took our places in assembly. Suddenly I feel very old. This is always a rather sad ceremony to me, but I can appreciate how the Juniors feel, too. It is quite a relief to know that the hurdles of underclass days have been passed, and I'm sure the Juniors are looking forward with excitement to the days not far distant when the responsibilities for campus leadership will be theirs. It's a wonderful feeling to know you'll soon be a Senior.

You know, Bill, the class of 1950 is an important class, for it is a mid-century class, and before its members extend the years of a new era, an era of atomic development and vast changes in our whole system of life. But then, looking back at the fine things they've accomplished this year, I'm sure they'll be equal to all that.

It was Marian Bates, their president, who suggested that they have the famous liberal, writer, and ex-governor of Georgia, Ellis Arnall, as their speaker for class day in February. His speech was quite an inspiration to the whole campus.

"America—East and West" was the theme for their class day, and they concentrated their attention upon the grandeur of our own nation. They may have been serious in their purpose, but the U. S. as they presented it in their tour was never like that—North, South, East, or West!

Early in the autumn they elected Nancye Butterworth chairman of the College Camp Committee. As a result, the college camp has been completely renovated with the money left them by their "big sister" class of 1948.

In the spring, politics was their main interest. They'll never forget, I'm sure, the excitement and pride of nominating and electing their girls to campus office, and grand girls they are, too.

Nor will the Junior Class forget its wonderful sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Chappell, for they have been real friends, sticking with the class through three years of work and play and fun! And so the Juniors begin the year of their destiny, 1950. I wish them luck!

And now I must stop reminiscing and get some sleep.

Love,
Sue

March 19, 1949

Dear Bill,

Have I spent a spooky day! That SOPHOMORE CLASS has really got the "spirit." They presented the most unique program in assembly today, with Mr. Thomas Jefferson Hamilton as the speaker. Perhaps you've heard of him. Then, quite in keeping with the mood and theme of their whole class day, they tried to scare us out of our seats at their class night program in the auditorium tonight. Are my nerves frayed!

Maybe I'm a little prejudiced where my sister class is concerned, but those Sophomores are real workers, Bill. With the rejuvenation of Ashby Gym, they have helped turn wintry Sunday afternoons into something very pleasant for dates on campus. You can always find a Sophomore behind the scenes, too, cleaning up after a big dance or instrumental in presenting Friday chapel programs and vespers.

To some of them this year means the end of their college careers, for many Sophomores are two-year students and will graduate in June. However, most Sophomores will continue struggling through exams and classes for another two years—two years that will go mighty fast, but into which every Sophomore will squeeze many happy moments.

There are several people responsible for the guidance and leadership of the Sophomore Class. Among them is that lively Bocskey family which serves in the capacity of sponsor. Not to be forgotten, either, is the Sophomore class president, Mary Ella Mays, who can be seen scurrying around campus getting last minute jobs done. These and others have helped make this year one the Sophomores will never forget.

Enough bragging about my sister class, Bill!

MANCHA HOLLAND, President

Bill—

The FRESHMAN CLASS is about to pop with pride tonight, for it has just experienced a successful class day. The Freshmen have been hurrying around dressed in white and feeling very important all day, and well they might, for they presented a very delightful speaker in assembly at noon—Mr. John Henry Faulk, the comedian.

The first big event for the Freshmen, however, was the Old Girl-New Girl Wedding. They were well represented by Mary Wyth Porter as bride. Among other celebrities of the Freshman Class are Mancha Holland, an able president, and Mr. and Mrs. Warren, who were chosen class sponsors.

As the year has passed and with Mrs. Garber's help, the Freshmen have become better oriented to college life, and I believe they have learned to love Madison just as the rest of us do.

--and our Dean of the College

Dear Bill,

Today I was hurrying down the hall in Wilson when I heard, "Don't forget to water the violets, Mrs. Branch. That little fellow over in the corner needs some special attention today. Come right in, Miss Sue. Have you tried out my new green chair cushions yet?"

It was Dr. Gifford, and I hadn't tried out his new green chair cushions; so I stopped in for a "chat." We discussed, by turns, the state of his violets and the state of the college, while he talked and answered the telephone at his elbow and scribbled notes to himself all at the same time.

You know, Bill, Dr. Gifford is one of my favorites here. It must be the way he mixes advice and a twinkling eye, notes for his philosophy class and Alice-in-Wonderland, a heavy schedule and African violets—it must be this mixture that makes him Dr. Gifford.

"Please come to my office - - -"

How many times since I have been at Madison have I heard those words over the phone or found them on a card in my P. O. box, coming from Miss Vandever or from Mrs. Garber? That call comes for so many things, Bill. This time it may be that I have filled out a sign-out slip wrong or that one of the deans wants to give me some tips for that coming convention trip or even that the letter of permission about my attending your dances next week end has come!

Miss Vandever and Mrs. Garber do lots of things besides sending out call cards, though, believe me, Bill.

As Dean of Freshmen, Mrs. Garber visits the high schools, telling the prospective college students about our Madison. In that way many of her girls get to know her before they come here to school, where she takes them under her wing for a whole freshman year—a year of orientation classes and dried tears and learning-how.

Then, as the girls become upperclassmen, Miss Vandever takes over and puts the finishing touches on her "Southern gentlewomen"—of whom, incidentally, she is very proud, Bill. That reminds me, I really must run to her office immediately—

We join to dance, to write, to be with others who like the same things we like; or maybe we join just because everyone else is joining. Whatever the reason behind it, the union is good. . .

Wilson at night, alive with its myriad lights, means the click of high heels and excited voices of those hurrying to another of our lyceum programs. Or perhaps it means Strafford Club play practice and the smell of grease paint. And there are meetings and meetings and the time-tattered phrase, "Will the meeting please come to order?"

Alumnae Secretary

Dear Sue,

I am writing you in regard to the establishment of an Alumnae Chapter in your home town. When you go home after graduation, it would be a fine thing if you could stir up some interest among our alumnae there. Most of them are interested, I'm sure, but it just takes someone with a little initiative to get the ball rolling. Your friend Mary is faithfully attending the chapter in Charleston, West Virginia, and so are Jane and Ida in Portsmouth.

As you know the purposes of the ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION are the promotion of the welfare of Madison College; the establishment of a mutually beneficial relationship between Madison College and its alumnae, including over 6000 graduates; and the stimulation of the individual Alumnae Chapters.

An Alumnae Secretary is maintained at the college whose duties are keeping lists of names and addresses of the graduates of the college, organizing local chapters, speaking at Alumnae meetings, and planning and organizing the annual Homecoming week end. Faculty, personnel officers, and students combine efforts to make Homecoming memorable for all alumnae who return for their annual visit to Alma Mater.

The real function of the Alumnae Chapter, in a nutshell, is to make personal contacts and to keep alive the sentimental interest of the college. Many of the clubs sponsor scholarships for their local high school graduates, and these clubs are very active also in civic affairs.

So, Sue, if you can do something towards the fostering of a local chapter, you will be contributing not only to the life of Madison, but to the community life of your own home town. Please don't hesitate to call on me for help.

Sincerely,

Alumnae Secretary

P. S. For a list of chapters, see page 276.

Dear Bill,

After four long years in college, I have decided that, honestly, Madison without a STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION would be just like Paul Revere without a horse! All this year the Student Government Council members have been busy as beavers doing the millions of things necessary to make college life fun and worthwhile for everyone—from the most timid freshman to the most popular senior.

At the beginning of the year they got the freshmen off to the right start by helping with registration and handbook classes. Then came the traditional Old Girl-New Girl Wedding, the symbolic ceremony that joins the freshman class with the upper-classmen in love and friendship.

And to day was the day for Student Government, for it had charge of assembly. The officers, resplendent in their official robes, sat on the stage and were duly presented by Student Government president, Ida Hart Chappell, who also gave the traditional talk on the value of the organization. All the members of the Council, in white skirts and sweaters, occupied the place of honor on the front rows of the auditorium.

COUNCIL. First row: V. Miller, recorder-of-points; B. Weller, vice-president; H. Chappell, president; B. Scott, secretary-treasurer; B. Smith, editor of Handbook
Second row: E. Thornhill, N. Cline, S. Wimberley, N. Penn, F. Perkinson, A. Hunter, B. Moses, M. Howard, J. Williams, E. Dickson, C. Roach, J. Witten

I am really looking forward to Student Government's big project along the recreational line. I am referring, of course, to the opening of the new recreation rooms in Ashby and Spotswood Halls. Now, when you come up again, we won't be forced into our usual habit of just strolling around campus. You and all the other students' dates should be just as grateful as we for the Student Government's work on behalf of our leisure.

IDA HART CHAPPELL
President

The Council has also secured new records to add to the music album libraries in Junior and Senior dating centers as well as new chairs and card tables.

Remember the wonderful Cosmopolitan Ball with Johnny Satterfield and his orchestra that you came to at the first of the year? Yes, that, too, was the work of the Student Government Association. See what I mean when I say Madison College could not do without a Student Government?

Student Government makes itself known constantly from the Monday morning announcements of Betty Weller, the vice-president, to the regular monthly meetings.

Of course, Student Government could not have done without the help of its advisors, Miss Seeger, Miss Gladin, Miss Vandever, Mrs. Garber, and Mr. Partlow, faculty members who are co-operating in making this year such a successful one.

Being a member of Student Government Council is no small job because, besides the pleasant tasks, they also have the duty of seeing that all is well on Madison campus. Because of their work, we students can proudly say that we are competent enough to govern ourselves. Naturally, everyone is a member of Student Government, and we all work toward its success in everything it undertakes.

So, Bill, now you can understand why I could rave on for hours over the glories and deeds of Madison's Student Government Association; but my watch tells me that I must hurry to the library if I expect to check out a book before it closes. So, 'bye for now!

Love,
Sue

"--And to side with truth is noble --"

Dear Bill,

Your last letter in which you told me about your honor system at the University was of special interest to me. You see, our HONOR ORGANIZATION here, unlike yours, is comparatively new; in fact, it was started just three years ago. I had a grand time comparing data. Perhaps you would like to hear a little about our honor system which is surely one of my pet subjects.

Through our honor system on Madison campus, we have tried to instill in the students high ideals of honor: that is, a nice sense of what is right, just, and true. However, it is only through the co-operation of the student body and the help and advice of our faculty that this can be done.

Chosen by the student body, the Honor Council represents the executive branch of our honor system. Those who serve on the council are selected because of our trust in them and the ideals which they represent. In turn, they are expected to take the initiative in developing a feeling for the Honor Code in all Madison students and to uphold the code by their own example and in their council work.

We were fortunate in having our chairman, Betty Lou Henshaw, attend the Southern Intercollegiate Association of Student Governments Convention in Tallahassee, Florida, last year. Information and ideas about other honor systems gained there were used for the betterment of our own local organization.

Honor Code classes were held by Council members at the beginning of the year to inform incoming freshmen and transfers of the constitution and its functions. When each new girl felt that she understood and appreciated the ideals and responsibilities of our honor system, she pledged herself to it by signing the honor pledge.

Our advisors, Dr. Armentrout, Mr. Eagle, and Dr. Warren, have offered us the assistance and encouragement so essential to this organization. We are proud of our Honor Code, and we are striving to live up to our pledge:

"I understand the privileges and responsibilities of self-government in group living, and I realize that I am pledging my full co-operation in maintaining our Honor System. I promise that, by personal actions and attitudes, I will uphold the principles of the Honor Code of Madison College."

Well, Bill, I could go on like this forever, because, as you have gathered, I am among the most enthusiastic boosters of our honor organization, but I suppose I must bring my letter to a close and get to bed.

Sleepily,

Sue

Dear Bill,

You can't imagine how proud I was when you wrote me Jim's comment after his first visit to Madison! Of course, all of us like to think that we are responsible for making Madison a "gracious, friendly place," but much of the credit, I must confess, goes to our STANDARDS COMMITTEE. Did I ever tell you about it?

Standards Committee does such things as posting standards in dormitory rooms, selecting costumes for the Old Girl-New Girl Wedding, and calming the flustered bride and her attendants. The committee was also responsible for the orderly serving of refreshments at our opening dance. You remember that, Bill!

Standards Committee works behind the scenes, too. All year its members have studied plans and suggestions for the improvement of standards on campus, always keeping in mind that it is their responsibility to uphold Madison's ideals of conduct and to help her students become more poised and gracious individuals.

So you see, Bill, Standards Committee is our inspiration here at Madison for happy, gracious living. Many thanks, though, to Jim for the nice compliment.

November 12, 1948

Dear Bill,

I was so glad to hear that you enjoyed our opening dance. We can always count on the SOCIAL COMMITTEE to make a success of any social function—be it the Freshman reception at Hillcrest or graduation dance.

You know, Bill, that committee deserves a lot of credit for steering us through all the many social affairs of the year. When I look over a list of their important activities that includes such things as Freshman teas, Old Girl-New Girl Wedding, and May Day dance, I realize what a really big job theirs is; and then I appreciate even more a dance like the one we had last Saturday night. We did have fun, Bill!

The House of Ushers

March, 1949

Dear Bill,

The "good-looking girls" you referred to in your letter who showed you to your seat the other night in the auditorium are members of our USHERS CLUB. Since you show such an avid interest, perhaps I'd better tell you a little bit about them.

The ushers have just this year organized into a club, which is composed of approximately twenty members. Girls are selected from each incoming freshman class to serve for four years. Of course, the main function of the organization is to furnish ushers for all lyceum programs. What it really does, however, is to eliminate much of the confusion that is otherwise present at the seating of a large lyceum audience.

My tale is told, Bill. If it's telephone numbers you're after, I simply refuse!

Hi, Bill,

Can you imagine my little sister Jane as a representative of law and order? She has just been chosen by the Junior Class officers to serve with the JUNIOR MARSHALS. A committee of fourteen under the direction of the faculty secretary, it is made up of two members from each sorority, two non-sorority members, and two day students. Florence Perkinson has been elected chairman this year.

Duties of Junior Marshals are to keep order during assemblies, check attendance cards, and direct ushering at special assemblies.

Oh, Bill, the "lights out" bell is ringing, and with my new responsibility to Jane, I mustn't break a rule,—so good-night.

--and still the Breeze blows

March 2, 1949

Dear Bill,

Today was Breeze day. (THE BREEZE is our college paper, you know.) The staff got the most wonderful speaker for assembly, Mr. Thomas Jefferson Hamilton of the New York Times. Of course, with my interest in journalism, I just sat and ate up every word he said.

By the way, Bill, this is the Breeze's twenty-sixth year on campus. Did you know that last year we got two first-class honor ratings for our prized paper? The standards of The Breeze haven't been lowered this year either. If anything, it's bigger and better than ever. More emphasis has been placed on editorials and letters to the editor, and an effort was made to afford our editor and business manager experience and contacts by sending them to the ACP Convention in Columbus this fall. Both Becky and Frankie came back with new enthusiasm and ideas.

Last spring the staff had the misfortune of losing their advisor, Mr. Conrad Logan, who had served so well in that capacity for many years. Dr. Glenn

Smith was then appointed advisor. Dr. Smith has fulfilled his duties most satisfactorily, for it seems that he has added more laughs to their Tuesday night sessions and more food to the stomachs of hungry "newshounds."

More news has often made six-page Breezes necessary this year. It has also made the Breeze staff resolve to do all it can to get the campus fee raised so that next year's Breeze can be even better.

The Breeze helped to instigate a mock election on campus this year. Then, one Friday night it was the bearer of the proud news: "Dewey Wins In Mock Election." We were as wrong as the polls, but it was a nice gesture on the part of The Breeze anyway.

Enough Breeze talk for now, Bill. Tomorrow is another long day; so I'd better "turn in."

The Life of a Dummy

Bill—

It came out today! THE SCHOOLMA'AM, Bill. Now I can hardly wait for you and the folks to see it. The staff has been going around saying "Sh-h" for months; the cover and a lot of what's inside our annual is a big secret every year, you know. Now it's all out—the original cover design by Sarah Ferland, the new informal senior shots, the "different" copy, and all the other big and little things that are our 1949 SCHOOLMA'AM.

One of the biggest things about this year's annual was the staff that published it! That staff was big in both quantity and quality; in fact, it grew to such numbers that chairs and two new tables were added to "the room" in Reed basement. The 1949 crew certainly proved its quality, too, by its relentless devotion to the SCHOOLMA'AM and to their editor.

Tradition has it that a SCHOOLMA'AM just wouldn't be possible without the Lemon Tree, and appropriate pomp and circumstance attended the annual re-installation of the Tree in the room as inspiration for the rough going ahead. In fact, there was almost as much inspiration as there was yellow copy paper for this year's annual. New life to the room came in the form of "Deadline," the stuffed dachshund, newly-adopted and ugliest staff mascot; Gladys, the bright red-and-white wolf paperweight created by admirers from a neighboring school; and Oscar, the human half-skull, guaranteed to hold unlimited pencils, paper clips, and thumbtacks. Curtains draped and pictures hung by the new house committee made the old story of eating and sleeping in the SCHOOLMA'AM room the week of deadline not so sad a tale as usual.

Every time you turn around this week, you see another SCHOOLMA'AM pin on a proud staff member. Staff pins are new this year, and it's nice to be able to tell just who did earn them. Congratulations are in order, too, for the faculty members who, as advisors, answered those millions of staff questions: Miss Hoffman, editorial; Miss Walker, art; Dr. Pittman, photography; and Mr.

Second row: B. Graves, W. Pebworth, M. Wiseman, N. Shumake, N. Fravel, N. Phillips, N. Dukes, C. Copley

Gibbons, business.

Ideas for this SCHOOLMA'AM flew in from everywhere. In October the business manager and the assistant editor attended the National Press Convention in Columbus, Ohio, and brought back glowing tales of annuals and "the city." Later, Blacksburg called the staff, and two girls went to VPI for the state convention—for the convention, that is!

Yes, THE SCHOOLMA'AM is out, Bill, and I guess nobody really knows what that means except the staff who put it out. I guess only a staff knows the excitement of selling an ad, the satisfaction of meeting a deadline, the heartbreak of a wrong identification, the thrill of seeing its "baby" and of watching the other students as they look at it. The stuck door of the SCHOOLMA'AM room continues to balk under the editor's key, and the pipes continue to rattle overhead; but the SCHOOLMA'AM goes on forever, with successive staffs smudged with that eternal printer's ink that won't wash off.

'Scuse me, Bill, a crowd of girls just came in to sign my SCHOOLMA'AM. . .

"Y"--Why?

October 8, 1948

Dear Bill,

Tonight was the Y.W.-C.A. Candlelight Service, one of the loveliest programs of the year. The quadrangle was lighted only by the candles we held. I'm sure all of us felt a renewed strength as we sang "Follow the Gleam."

Y.W. is an important organization here at Madison as you have told me Y.M. is on your campus. When I first came to Madison, I was welcomed by a friendly Y.W. girl. Then came the Big Sister—Little Sister party. Each upperclassman took her little sister, and everyone had fun licking lollipops, singing, and laughing as she made new friends.

"Y" leaders and Mr. and Mrs. Partlow, advisors, went out to the college camp one week end in the fall to make plans for the year. During that meeting,

Mary Edwards, our president, gave suggestions she had received at the "Y" Presidents' School last summer in New York.

The World Student Service Fund, sponsored by Y.W.C.A., makes us conscious of the difficulties of students in other parts of the world and makes us eager to aid these students. Now we are looking forward to the Halloween party, and-oh, yes, the "Kid Party," when gifts for the children of Harrisonburg will be placed under Christmas trees in each dining hall. I wish that you could come to see our Christmas pageant, "Why the Chimes Rang." Do you think you could?

Dr. J. J. Rives is to be presented during Religious Emphasis Week in February. He will bring us practical suggestions and try to give us the answer for living a fuller Christian life. Other activities of Y.W. include Friday chapel, with lovely stage effects, and Sunday vespers, with quiet moments for meditation.

Yes, Y.W.C.A. is a powerful influence on the lives of us here at Madison. It brings to us a new awareness of the meaning of "Follow the Gleam."

"Y", Junior

Dear Bill,

I just got back from a FRESHMAN COMMISSION meeting. My roommate is giving the commission officers a little guidance, and I went along with her tonight out of curiosity. But, Bill, I'm really glad I went because those girls are certainly "on the beam." They had a discussion on boy-girl relationships, and they responded with such good common sense that, instead of listening just passively, I sat up and took notice.

Of course, you know that this commission is our "Baby Y" on campus. It is the training ground for freshmen interested in the big Y.W.C.A. Membership is open to any freshman. I should think they'd all want to join, too, for you should hear the list of programs they have planned—political, social, and religious discussions, hymn studies, Bible quizzes, and lots more I can't remember. They also help with the planning of Friday chapel programs and Sunday vespers. I am told that they are planning now for a Little Sister-Big Sister party in the spring. They have so much vim and enthusiasm, Bill, I almost wish I were a freshman again.

Sue

--on the gleam

Dear Bill,

Tonight I want to talk to you about the wonderful spirit of fellowship that is found among students of the various faiths on Madison campus. Each group has its own organization to bring the members in close contact with one another and with their church. Such a group is WESTMINSTER FELLOWSHIP, the Presbyterian organization. To the girls who find an inner peace within the church, Westminster Fellowship has a special meaning.

Under their Religious Education Director, Mrs. Evelyn Shrum, the Westminster Fellowship members have combined their talents to teach Sunday School and lead discussion groups. All year they have faithfully pooled their pennies to provide milk for "Johnny," their own contribution to child welfare. For fun and relaxation there are the Sunday night suppers and parties.

And then there were the annual retreat for the officers at Massanetta and the state conference in November at Rosylyn, Virginia. Not to be forgotten is the "Gleam," the Presbyterian publication which records all these activities from month to month. Such activities combine to give us students a fuller, richer college life, and we profit from having had them, Bill.

More next time about our other organizations!

Fate-fully yours,
Sue

Wesley Cues

Dear Bill,

Tonight my roommate took me to a meeting of the WESLEY FOUNDATION and, just as you said I would, I really enjoyed it. I don't believe I've ever seen a college group more closely knit and yet so eager to welcome visitors and new members. Right away I felt like one of them.

One thing really struck me, Bill. All the time I was there I could feel the spiritual fellowship permeating the group, and I know it must be felt in all the fireside chats, parties, Sunday night suppers, and conferences they have. Maybe that's the reason why the group is so successful. Did you know that this group had the largest delegation at the VPI conference and also at the state conference? I think that speaks well for Frances Sneed, the president, and Mrs. Gibbons, the sponsor.

I heard them say they were looking forward to another joint meeting with your U. Va. group, Bill. H-mm, it might be nice to be a member of Wesley Foundation.

"Lead, Kindly Light"

Hello, Bill,

I have just been talking to Margaret Mears, president of Madison's Catholic organization, the NEWMAN CLUB. She has gotten me quite enthusiastic about the close co-operation in work and play among its members. Margaret said that the club was entertained at the beginning of the year by the Ladies' Sodality of the Blessed Sacrament Church. This did much to make the new club members feel that college wouldn't be so bad after all.

Later in the year the club formed discussion groups, and soon lively debates were taking place in the parish hall. The climax of the year's activities of Newman Club will be the annual communion breakfast in May.

According to Margaret, much of the success of the club goes to the efforts of Father Hoffner and the parish members who do so much to make the students feel at home. Don't you agree, Bill, that Newman Club, as the other religious organizations, forms a vital part of college life?

There are some other such clubs that I want to tell you about, but now I must close as I am late for one of those very meetings!

Wednesday (Rain Day)

Dear Bill,

It literally poured rain today! I got so blue in the suite all by myself that I went looking for someone to talk to. Across the hall I found Catherine Kegley. She's president of the LUTHERAN STUDENT ASSOCIATION, you know. I just sat and listened with my mouth open as she told me all the things they do.

To start things off right they retreat each fall to Massanetta Springs where they do their planning for the coming year. This year, their sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Fenner, went along. To welcome new members they have a hayride; that sounds like fun, doesn't it? On Sunday evenings they meet for inspiration and worship under student leadership.

This year the group has added several new things: one is church mothers and another is Saturday afternoon coffee-hours. Also, Mrs. Fenner visits the girls in the dorms each week. I've found that these little extra things can add a lot to college life.

There goes the bell for dinner, Bill; so I'd better say 'bye for now—

Sue

--In the temple

Dear Bill,

For such a small group, JUNIOR SISTERHOOD, our Jewish group on campus, makes its presence felt in countless little ways and is an integral part of life here. I'm proud that we have such an organization.

Mrs. Mintzer, the beloved sponsor of this group, has really kept the girls working this year, but they seem to love it. Sponsoring the annual cancer drive on campus is one of their major activities; they derive a great deal of satisfaction from this project, for they realize just how many people benefit from the funds collected. Many current questions are debated at their meetings, and the members have found out that it is possible to argue and have fun at the same time.

Never let it be said, though, that their social life is neglected. Invitations to join in religious programs at other schools are often accepted, and lighter moments are sandwiched in between more serious ones.

By the way, Bill, Jean is coming to the conference over there next week end. Be sure to look her up.

"Canterbury Tales"

January 21, 1949

Dear Bill,

Today I attended an excellent chapel program conducted by CANTERBURY CLUB, the Episcopal Church group on campus. They used as their theme "The World Church," and I was very much impressed. Mr. Le Moine, their minister, gave a short talk, and then one of the boys in the group gave a report on a conference he had attended in Kansas over the Christmas holidays. It seems that at this conference there was talk of fusion of some of the protestant faiths or, where that was not possible, closer co-operation among certain church groups. They really gave us something to think about, proving what a wide-awake organization Canterbury itself is.

This year they began planning their year's work with a retreat at Massanetta Springs, and those plans have begun to materialize under the leadership of Mrs. Elliott Reeke, Mr. Le Moine, and Jennie Snowden, president. Monthly supper meetings, speakers, parties, and debates have all been high spots in a year well-spent—a year which has brought the members of that group a little closer to their church and happiness. Wouldn't it be grand, Bill, if churches could learn to co-operate and work together like that?

"The Eyes and Ears of B.S.U."

Dear Bill,

This afternoon I visited the Student Center of the BAPTIST STUDENT UNION. The center has just been remodeled and really looks good. Mary Rudasill, the president of B.S.U., was there, and before I knew it she was telling me all the things they've been doing this year.

Among the list of activities, she included a pre-school retreat, an "open house," daily "pauses for prayer," a party with church mothers, a Christmas party and caroling, a community missions project, dorm circle meetings, a weekend conference here at Madison, and, finally, a state conference at Ridgecrest, which was the dream of a year come true for all BSU-ers.

Just from a list such as that, Bill, you can see what a busy organization B.S.U. is. This also gives evidence of the important part a church group can play in the life of any college student, doesn't it?

--Five and fifty scholars baked in a Pi

Wednesday

Oh, Bill—

KDP "tapped" in assembly today! Thirty-six future teachers received those precious letters of invitation from Loulie's hand. My roommate Anne was among the select thirty-six, and I am quite proud of her.

KAPPA DELTA PI is our honor fraternity for upperclassmen, you know. Its purpose is "to encourage high professional, intellectual, and personal standards, and to recognize outstanding contributions to education. It shall endeavor to maintain a high degree of professional fellowship among its members, and to quicken professional growth by honoring achievement in educational work." I guess I sound like a board of education, Bill, but I get quite excited about KDP, for it is recognized all over campus for its achievements in the educational field. As I've told you before, it's quite an honor to be asked to join.

KDP members have a lot to remember about this year. I have heard that their initiations are impressive and beautiful, and I know the thirty-six new members will be a proud and happy lot. After the initiation ceremony, Miss Trent, a supervisor from the high school, will give some helpful hints on teaching, and, from what I hear, they have a treat in store. As at all initiations, there will be plenty to eat, and then the group will be entertained by Marie Garber, who, incidentally, has a beautiful voice. Kappa Delta Pi has talent as well as brains!

Another big moment in the year is the annual Christmas party. Those teachers don't let all work and no play make dull "Jills" of them.

Don't let me make you believe that Kappa Delta Pi is all fun and no work, though, Bill. It, like every other organization on campus, has its serious moments. These boys and girls are the future teachers of America, and, realizing this fact, they really put their noses to the grindstone. They have lectures and discussions on educational subjects, inform themselves about the new trends in teaching, and keep in touch with the different boards of education in Virginia and surrounding states, thereby finding out any changes that may be made in the requirements for teachers. They also work with the faculty in providing valuable information to other students interested in positions in education. I'd say they accomplish quite a lot, wouldn't you?

What a volume this has turned out to be! Maybe I'd do well to get to my books so Anne can be proud of me. The bookworm turns—

"I love to teach--"

May 20, 1949

Dear Bill,

A letter from you today mentioned something about that cute sister of yours being an A. C. E. now. You sound baffled about it all—and, as long as your sister is "one of those things," as you put it, it's time you knew the story! So lend an ear—

The ASSOCIATION OF CHILDHOOD EDUCATION has a chapter at Madison, too, Bill. Let me tell you something about what they do here. As Midge may have told you, the organization is for students preparing to teach in the elementary grades. All the A. C. E.'s here seem to find something special in their discussion groups and movies about children and their direct work with children.

Extra A. C. E. activities for '48-'49 have included their Christmas party for some underprivileged children in town and a picnic this month. Honestly, Bill, watching our A.C.E.'s with their sponsors, Miss Anthony and Miss Seeger, almost makes me wish I were going to be teaching in the elementary field. Midge is smart!

"A dillar, a dollar--"

Dear Bill,

I was so pleased to hear that you had made the honor roll. You know, the students up here have an incentive to study hard and make good grades, too. What freshman doesn't want to become a member of SIGMA PHI LAMBDA, our honor society for freshmen and sophomores?

Each fall the society has a tea for all freshmen who had A or B average in high school. In March, if these boys and girls have kept up their good work in college, they are invited to join Sigma Phi Lambda.

Of course, the activities of the club are varied. In January the members sponsored a wonderful assembly program, and in February they had a huge time at the college camp. The group, well sponsored by Miss Lanier, has done much on campus to foster high standards of scholarship.

I must stop now and study for my history exam, so that I can keep up with you, Bill.

Studiously yours, Sue

May, 1949

Hello, Bill,

Those GLEE CLUB girls are remarkable! I don't see how they do it. They practice regularly three times a week and oftener when in preparation for a program. Their efforts, however, have not gone unrewarded, for last fall they took a trip to Washington and sang at the National Episcopal Cathedral in a joint program with the chorus from VMI. Again in December the two groups were featured jointly in our annual Christmas concert here.

OFFICERS. P. Watkins, pianist; L. Stine, president; M. Hurst, vice-president; G. Neathery, secretary; E. Jamerson, librarian; H. Smith, treasurer

The club has also been responsible for bringing us musical programs by other choral groups. Among the visiting choruses were groups from VPI, Hampden-Sydney, Harvard University, and your own group from the University. Our girls took part in the latter two programs by joining in the presentation of several selections.

With spring came the annual auditions, which were held this year at Mary Washington College. Glee clubs were represented then from colleges and universities over the entire state. All fifty members of our glee club pitched in and did their best, and, as usual, came out on top.

Other high spots on the Glee Club calendar this year have been participation in chapel appearances, assembly programs, and Homecoming (with the chorus from U. Va. as the guest group). Among the many honors received by the club, probably the most outstanding came in the form of an invitation to represent the state of Virginia at the music biennials which were held in Texas in March.

The credit for these many accomplishments goes to the Glee Club director, Miss Edna Shaeffer; to the members who have given their wholehearted cooperation and individual interest; and, finally, to the officers of the club.

Yes, Bill, the Glee Club is an outstanding organization on campus, and we are all proud of the reputation it has made for itself and Madison.

Hope to see you at graduation,

Sue

"Music, Maestro!"

Dear Bill,

So you liked the orchestra we had for our dance last week? Well, I'm certainly glad, but I hope you can hear our Madison ORCHESTRA sometime soon. It's one on our prides and joys.

In September the orchestra started out with only fifteen members. Try-outs were held, and from them were collected three violins, a clarinet, a bassoon, an oboe, a cello, a drummer, a pianist, and two trumpets. Phylis Binion of Clifton Forge was named vocalist.

In March the orchestra will give its annual concert. They will probably work like mad the night before, trying to get the stage set up and properly lighted.

You can be sure it will be beautiful and unique. Then, in April they are going on tour of the various high schools throughout the state. I can see that assembly line now forming to load and unload the truck.

Orchestra means a lot of hard work, but there must be a great deal of satisfaction derived from playing in concerts that are such triumphs as theirs always have been.

Enough of my bragging, Bill. You come up in March and judge for yourself; I can't do it justice.

Sue

--tickling the keys--

Dear Bill,

Walking by the Recital Room just now, I heard the remark, "Have you heard that beautiful piece Betty has been playing? She'll just have to play it for us sometime."

From that I surmised that it was about time for the weekly meeting of the AEOLIAN CLUB, the official piano elect of Madison. To become a full-fledged member of Aeolian, one must first pass a tryout. The old members, realizing the anxiety present at a tryout, are quite sympathetic and appreciative of the novice's interest, even in the face of fear.

With better musicianship as their goal, these students keep practicing their scales and arpeggios as a means to an end. I have a piano lesson in ten minutes; so I'd better run.

Love,

Sue

At the console--

Dear Bill,

You wanted to know about that queer-sounding club I mentioned in my last letter. Well, the DIAPASON CLUB is a club for students of organ, founded during the fall semester of 1947 when tryouts were held for anyone studying organ. The purpose of the club is to encourage and increase the number of organists. This year Dr. Ruth McNeil of Mary Baldwin College has assisted Mr. Hicks in instructing the beginners. Also, a new pipe organ has relieved the "practice" problem.

Last year the club introduced to Madison College Dr. Marshall T. Bidwell, organist at Carnegie Institute; they hope to present a similar program each year. They conduct one business and one social meeting each month and present a recital once a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Hicks, the sponsors, have been wonderful about entertaining the club members in their home, where Mr. Hicks plays a South American congo like a true native!

Now do you know what "Diapason" is, Bill?

Console-ingly yours,
Sue

--chords and dischords--

Hi, Bill—

Some people certainly do have to boast about their college organizations! So you think that that frat of yours has just about the most wonderful small dance orchestra you've heard. Well, let me tell you, you haven't heard anything till you've heard the Madison College contribution to music at its smoothest—namely, the LOST CHORDS. Let me tell you about them.

Their first appearance on campus this school year was on December 4, at one of the regular Saturday dances. Phyllis Binion, that strictly out-of-this-world orchestra vocalist, was featured. Honestly, Bill, the kids went wild. We hadn't known we had such a group of musicians in our midst.

Since then we have learned that Lost Chords is an extra-curricular activity—that is, the players receive no credit at all for time and effort spent. Yet, they have two rehearsals every week, besides their outside practice. Under Mr. Marshall's guidance they have furnished music for many clubs, dinners, dances, and other social functions in and around Harrisonburg.

Don't you think that we have a right to boast about our Lost Chords, Bill?

--and the band plays on--

Dear Bill,

Gee, I'll bet you look smooth in your new uniform! I was very happy to hear that you had joined the band. I always did say I'd rather hear you play the trumpet than Harry James.

Our CONCERT BAND is right in there on the downbeat, too. Every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon, as I come through Wilson, I can hear some mighty fine music coming from the direction of the recording studio, where the band holds its rehearsals.

Although it has just been recently organized, the band has proved a credit to the school. It has already given two concerts in assembly. The concerts included marches, overtures, and light classics. The band's arrangement of "Stars and Stripes Forever" really stirred my patriotic sense!

One of the nicest things about the band is that it is open to anyone who plays a woodwind, brass, or percussion instrument. Jimmy Logan, president of the band, really blows a sweet clarinet, and Mr. Marshall, their director, is just full of fun. Just yesterday as I walked by the studio I heard the latter say, "If you must play the rests, don't play them so loud!"

Gee, Bill, I wonder if my flute's corroded. I think I'll get it out and see if I've forgotten how to play.

-- Gracious Greeks --

Dear Bill,

In your last letter you asked me how active our PANHELLENIC COUNCIL is. My answer is, "Plenty!" It went into action on the opening day of school this year, for much had to be done in the short period preceding rush week. Somehow everything was ready when the time came. Notices went out, and Becky, Wannie, and Mrs. Varner met with the rushees.

To welcome the rushees to the Greek-letter world the Council gave a tea for them. Amid teacups and polite conversation the

by the council and approved by the sororities. This new plan did away with "dating," and from 4:30 to 5:30 during rush week each sorority entertained informally at "open house." This plan was a big success, and so it will be continued next year.

Who would not call the Panhellenic dance on December 11 the event of the year? You remember that, Bill. The Council had planned, worked, and worried for three months, but all that was forgotten in the glory of the night. The smell of cedar, the soft, dreamy music of Jimmy Livingston's orchestra, and the Christmas tree figure will make that dance a cherished memory for many a Greek-letter girl.

Inter-sorority friendliness has steadily increased this year, and the co-operation received by the Council has lightened its task considerably. Becky Settle has made a wonderful chairman, and Mrs. Varner's guiding hand has been an immeasurable blessing to them all.

And now, Bill, I must bless you and say "good-night," because there goes the eleven o'clock bell.

Theta Sigma Upsilon

Dear Bill,

Minerva has watched over her Thetas of Phi Chapter in '48-'49 with benevolent kindness, guiding them through their best year yet—at least they think so.

The days flew swiftly from the first THETA SIGMA UPSILON greeting in September until October 25 and the feverish activity of rush week. They welcomed their rushees in the best "Dogpatch" style to the wedding of Li'l Abner and Daisy May and to "open house" each afternoon. On Saturday they, proudly crowning twenty-six pledges with Theta hats, saw them already as shining stars in Theta's future.

Albright, J. Buckmaster
Third row: M. Rhodes, N. Reed, L. Woodyard, C. Blackmore, G. Kellison, D. Knauss,
J. Joseph, C. Mattox, P. Rogers

Probably the biggest thrill came one Friday night when Thetas opened The Breeze and saw Mary Edwards as Miss Madison of 1949. Mary was also honored in the annual edition of Who's Who.

December meant the initiation of the pledges and the excitement of the Panhellenic dance. With true Christmas spirit, they decked their halls in greens, threw wide the doors, and welcomed the officers and advisors of the other sororities to "open house." "Doc" and "Doc, Jr." presided at the coffee table against a background of candlelight, evergreens, and Christmas carols. The Thetas played Santa Claus with boxes of food that they sent to Germany, and with a box of toys, clothes, and food for those here at home who were less fortunate than they.

In the whirl of college activity, Phi chapter paused to hold its annual Founders' Day banquet in March, to sponsor the March of Dimes drive in January, and to hold their family picnic in May. It was Kitty's efficient leadership and the "Docs'" untiring interest that led them through this eventful year.

Now those of them who are seniors must leave Theta. They've waited a long time for this moment, but now I wonder if they are really so anxious as they so often thought they would be. They'll miss Madison, and especially Theta, but they know they're leaving her in capable hands and that next year will be even more eventful than this was, for Minerva will ever watch over them.

Shucks, Bill, there goes the bell, and I haven't said half I wanted to. More next time—

Love,
Sue

Sigma Sigma Sigma

Dear Bill,

"Sure and a fine year it's been for Sigma." I don't think a single SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA would question that.

The first major cause for exultation was a brand new rug for the living room and hall—something much needed and highly prized. But on that fateful afternoon in October, Sigmas didn't mind at all the thirty-seven new pairs of feet running happily all over it. No, indeed! Proud and happy they were to have them. It must have been Alice Hunter's display of voodoo magic at the rush party that got them.

Speaking of Hunter, could anyone have asked for a better president than she's been for the past two years? Her excellent leadership has done much for Tri Sigma.

Their social service work, under the direction of Marianna Howard, includes a twelve-year-old French boy whom they are helping to clothe and feed through CARE. His family's letters of appreciation mean much to Sigma. Marianna also did the sorority proud with the annual TB drive on campus and their contributions to the John Randolph Library at Farmville.

The Christmas party, combined with the pledge party given by the new initiates, will long be remembered as one of the best get-togethers they have ever had. Other affairs Sigma will remember are the evenings at the movies together, informal Sunday night suppers, and mock wedding rehearsals for Hunter and Danny at Sprinkel House.

Sigma knees were really knocking the day Betty McKenrick, their national inspector, arrived. All it took was one of her warm friendly smiles to let the girls know that she had the same Tri Sigma spirit that they have, and they all relaxed and looked upon her stay more as a friendly visit than as an inspection.

Yes, Bill, it has been a marvelous year for the Tri Sigmas, and, as much as they're looking forward to going home, they'll hate to leave, for I know they'll miss the other Tri Sigmas and Barca and Miss Hudson, their advisors.

As the time draws near to leave Madison, I'm not any too anxious myself, Bill.

Pi Kappa Sigma

Dear Bill,

Guess whom I saw yesterday? None other than your sister, Midge! She came up from Farmville to spend the week end with her PI KAPPA SIGMA sisters here. As usual I walked into a room full of laughter over at Shenandoah; there, to my surprise, sat Midge in the middle of it. I know she spent an enjoyable week end because there's always fun a-plenty around Shenandoah apartments. Those girls are always full of enthusiasm.

They started this year off with a bang by renovating their living room and recreation room, which have certainly repaid them for the effort. Then, the first of October they went to the college camp to spend the week end. The weather had no effect on the merriment of that bunch. They just packed up their good humor in their blanket rolls and scoffed at the cold.

The theme for their rush party again this year was "Arabian Night Club." At the end of rush week they pledged fifteen new members.

Five of Pi Kap's girls were fortunate enough to be able to attend the district convention held at Farmville State Teachers College in November. There they met Pi Kaps from four other eastern colleges.

Pi Kappa Sigma's fifty-fourth anniversary was celebrated in November with a Founders' Day banquet at The Triangle in Staunton. The Christmas season approached and gave further excuse for celebration. First of all, the pledges played Santa Claus to the old members. Then, the whole sorority entertained the children from the Harrisonburg Orphanage at a Christmas party. The adoption of an overseas orphan and an Easter egg hunt for the orphanage children came under the heading of social service work for the year.

Not only were fifteen new members initiated into the sorority this year, but also a new advisor, Miss Elizabeth Patterson, who, along with Mrs. Johnston, has helped make this a memorable year for all Pi Kaps.

See what I mean when I say theirs is an enthusiastic bunch?

Sue

Alpha Sigma Tau

Dear Bill,

Talk about the "new look"! Lincoln House really has it. (In case you're wondering, that's the home of ALPHA SIGMA TAU, our baby sorority on campus.) I was in there today and was surprised to find the difference wallpaper and paint can make. It really looks grand.

Alpha Sigma Tau may be the "baby" on campus, but it surely is wide-awake and active. Not only do they have new wallpaper and paint, but also a new radio-vic combination which looks very sharp. Sounds good, too!

To prove how really clever these girls are, I must tell you about their rush party. It was a carnival with popcorn, a house of wonders, and a real honest-to-goodness chorus line! Wouldn't you have liked to see that? Rush week was climaxed for them with the pledging of twenty new girls.

Mrs. Staehle, their national president, arrived for a visit in November. A week of entertaining followed—a reception, a luncheon, and numerous meetings.

At Christmas Alpha Sigma Tau members found the real Christmas spirit in packing a box for "their" family. Then they had a Christmas party that was simple, but loads of fun, I hear.

All Alpha Sigma Tau members reserve special places in their hearts for Dolly Elliott, their president, Dr. Latimer and Miss Frank, their advisors, and Miss Bland, their housemother. All four of them are just plain swell and have helped make the year stand out as a red-letter year for Alpha Sigma Tau.

Well, Bill, I guess I'd better sign off for now, as I have an appointment with the dressmaker at four o'clock. I'm getting that "new look!"

Alpha Sigma Alpha

January 10, 1949

Dear Bill,

You were asking in your last letter about Jim's sister's sorority. She belongs to ALPHA SIGMA ALPHA, and a grand group of girls they are, too!

Alpha Sigma Alpha has been very busy this year. The first event on its calendar was the traditional "Café Society" rush party which, I understand, was quite a success. All during rush week the welcome mat was out to all rushees, and at the close of the week twenty-one new girls were pledged to Alpha Sigma Alpha amid the usual excitement and enthusiasm.

First row: A. Hunter, F. Jobson, D. Davis, E. Dickie, G. Temple, J. Smith, M. Mears
Second row: M. Armistead, J. Young, M. Elliott, B. Bryant, F. Wilkins, B. Almarode,
D. Gosney
Third row: M. Dyer, P. Carter, V. Dixon, M. J. Bradley, D. Wainwright, D. Tupper, V. D. Eason

One of the highlights of the year for the girls in Alpha Sigma Alpha was a visit from their national president, Mrs. Fred Sharp, who was present at their Founders' Day banquet on November 15.

Social service work has not been neglected by them either. The girls packed a box for a needy family at Christmas, sent Bibles to some Mexican children in a school in Texas, and sent clothes to Poland to fulfill their pledge.

Nor is their social life lacking. The old members were entertained at a Christmas party by the new members, and a week end at the college camp proved to be great fun. Now they are planning to give a house party for Alpha Chapter (Farmville) next semester.

It looks as if this will be a memorable year for Alpha Sigma Alpha, and much of it is due, I'm sure, to the capable leadership of Jennie Snowden, president, and Miss Boje, advisor. They really seem to get things done.

I must close for now, Bill. It's almost time for "lights out." Tell Jim I said "hello," and I hope you two can come over some week end soon.

Love,
Sue

Sigma Delta Rho

November 25, 1949

Dear Bill,

I was so glad to hear from you, and especially glad to know that you had a good time at the "Melody Club" dance. I think SIGMA DELTA RHO has a right to be very proud of sponsoring such an affair. You know, Bill, I think those boys deserve a lot of credit because Sigma Delta Rho hasn't been organized quite two years yet. In fact, it's the only fraternity on campus.

SIGMA DELTA RHO. First row: D. Turner, secretary; W. Eye, vice-president; B. Nichols, president; R. Burton, reporter; D. Driver, sergeant-at-arms

Third row: S. Devier, L. Good, W. Miller, N. Pascaretti, W. Caracofe
Fourth row: M. Rhodes, J. Rhodes, T. Garner, P. Brice, H. Earman, W. Nash

The activities of the fraternity have been varied and far-reaching this year. The boys started the year off right with a party for the new men students on campus. Then they sponsored vespers one Sunday afternoon. Contributions have been made to worthy causes, and, of course, the dance is to their credit. More important than any of these, though, is the spirit of fraternity that has grown up between members of Sigma Delta Rho. That this should have been accomplished in such a short time speaks well for our boys.

Many of the meetings of Sigma Delta Rho have been highlighted by speakers. Some of them came from the faculty and others from outside. Certainly much of the credit for success goes to Sigma Delta Rho president, Nick Nichols, and to the advisors, Dr. Curtis and Mr. Eagle, who have helped Sigma Delta Rho construct a fraternity that is fast becoming as beneficial to the college as it is to the members themselves.

I tell you, Bill, we have a grand bunch of boys here at Madison! Jealous?

Love,

"Easter Parade"

Hi, Bill,

Since you mentioned your dance club at the University, I think I ought to tell you a little about our GERMAN CLUB.

This year the first decade of the German Club's momentous life on campus closed, and another eventful era began. It was a year of new things; Jean Mims, their lovely president, appeared in September with a new name, Tysinger.

In early autumn German picnicked with Cotillion Club. Incidentally, they had a contest to see who could eat the most hot dogs. Back at work, the German girls decorated the gym for Saturday night dances and catered to dancers, by installing a coke machine. They featured the Lost Chords for one Saturday night dance in December. At Christmas they showed their good will by fixing baskets of food.

JEAN M. TYSINGER
President

German Club's big day came in April when we danced with them to "Easter Parade." Remember? Weren't Jean and Bob a good-looking couple at the head of the figure? Dr. and Mrs. Pittman, Miss Vandever, and Mr. and Mrs. Boskey, German sponsors, had a hand in that successful affair, too.

Anne's waiting to practice the samba with me this very minute. By the way, Bill, how are your lessons coming along?

Yours,
Sue

"Moonlight and Roses"

March, 1949

Hey there, Bill,

Do you remember how I told you all about German Club in my last letter? Well, in all fairness, I really ought to tell you about our COTILLION CLUB.

Tryouts and "goating" of both freshmen and upperclassmen for Cotillion in October brought forth many groans from the "goats" and beams of approval from the older members. Later in the fall old and new members joined in picnicking in Ashby Gym. This was their first "social;" however, spring found them around the bridge table. In the line of work, the girls compiled a handbook, and each Cotillion girl now owns one. Their Christmas project was shoes for some local school children.

BARBARA PAMPLIN, President

I guess Cotillion's night came in February, when their president, Barbara Pamplin (better known as "Pamp"), led the figure at the Southern Colonial Ball. My, Cotillion members were proud of her! They were equally proud of their sponsors, Miss Hope Vandever, Dr. and Mrs. Glenn C. Smith, and Dr. Henry Converse.

You've already agreed with me that Cotillion Club has wonderful dances. You know, you told me that night that it was one of the nicest dances you'd ever attended. (Sigh---) Did you really mean it?

Reminiscently,

Sue

Like mother, like daughter

Dear Bill,

Did you know that Mother went here to school? Well, she did, and that entitled me to join the GRANDDAUGHTERS' CLUB. This club cherishes the traditions and memories of Madison, as passed on from mother to daughter, you know.

At our initiation service, held in December, twenty-four girls were added to the group, and we are finding them full of new ideas. Our big project this year was Homecoming, when we helped with registration and and proudly ushered the alumnae around campus. On February 14, Saint Valentine prompted us to visit the Children's Home; and, of course, we couldn't let a year go by without a week end at the college camp.

We are convinced that we have been lucky in having Ann Stout for our president and Mrs. Dorothy Garber and Mrs. Althea Johnston as our sponsors. All three have done a grand job.

O-o-oh, there goes the bell. I've got to run.

Sue

-- the open door --

Hi, Bill—

This afternoon I was talking with a day student who told me all about the club they have here on campus for local students. It is called the SESAME CLUB, and it is really having a big year.

The group started off last fall with a party and initiation to welcome all the new personalities of the day student's room. On December 17 the celebrated with a Christmas dance at Massanutten Caverns, and during the holidays they prepared a Christmas food basket.

This year's many activities will be brought to a close with a picnic in the spring, quite an important function. Most important of all, though, is the progress that has been made this year in carrying out one of Sesame's aims: to draw the day students into closer relationship with the rest of the college.

I'm glad we have a Sesame Club on campus, Bill. Sounds like fun, doesn't it?

"The play's the thing"

Dear Bill,

Do you remember the Stratford production you came over to see in the fall? You know it was the Pulitzer Prize winner, "Icebound." Well, I just found out that STRATFORD DRAMATIC CLUB is going to present "The Taming of the Shrew" in the spring. That will be their major production for the year; so I'm sure it is going to be good. I would love to have you come over for it if you can. I'll let you know that date later.

That club really works hard, Bil, but its members seem to enjoy it. They helped stage the New Girl-Old Girl Wedding and the Christmas pageant and put on their own play in between. In February they plan to give three one-act plays as laboratory productions. In their laboratory productions they always do a little experimentation. Last year it was with expressionism, and I understand they are going to do something similar this year. They are also going to present a little Chinese play which is supposed to be very humorous.

Much of the credit for these fine productions goes to the faithful old members of Stratford and also to the talented new ones, but Stratford wouldn't be what it is if it were not for director-sponsor, Dr. Mary Latimer, who is so thoroughly schooled and interested in theater art. Honestly, Bill, she's good!

Stratford members don't work all the time. They really let their hair down at social meetings. Anything can happen then and usually does. They always go to camp at least once during the year, too, abandoning grease paint and powder for old dungarees and plaid shirts. A favorite pastime there is sitting by the fireplace with all the lights out while Dr. Latimer tells ghost stories. O-o-o-h, can she tell a ghost story!

Nancy Wilson, president of the group, is the serious-minded member of the bunch. She holds them all together with some degree of dignity at business meetings and keeps things running smoothly.

Well, Bill, I guess I'd better bring this little epistle to a close. I've an exam to study for, and I've procrastinated long enough.

Love, Sue

"Passing Parade"

Dear Bill,

We, too, have an INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB, and it is quite active in examining and discussing matters of national and international importance. This year under the leadership of June Lyon, president, and Dr. Frederickson, sponsor, the club has maintained a bulletin board, sponsored a speaker in assembly, attended conferences, and made the student body in general more aware of international relations and problems.

I must stop now, for I haven't read today's paper.

Yours for a better IRC,

Sue

Shades of Cicero!

Dear Bill,

I think you misunderstood me in my last letter. ALPHA RHO DELTA is not a fraternity; it's a classical club for Latin students.

Speaking of Alpha Rho Delta, those boys and girls have really become steeped in the classics this year, Bill. Their sponsors, Dr. and Mrs. Sawhill, have been so helpful in making the club interesting and educational. At their meetings the members have heard lectures on the various cultural and practical aspects connected with the study of the Latin language, seen slides made abroad, and listened to classical records.

All activities of Alpha Rho Delta are not so formal, though, Bill. A party for the new members in the fall, a picnic in the spring, and several other informal parties and programs contribute to the success and pleasure of these Roman scholars.

Classically yours,
Sue

"Parlez-vous français?"

Easter's over!

Mon cher Bill,

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS is certainly one active organization! With their vivacious sponsor, Dr. Margarete Woelfel, and president, Betty Hippensteele, they have done so much this year that I would have to go back to their book of minutes to remember it all.

Their meetings this year have been enlivened by numerous foreign films, which they discussed in order to learn more about their French friends.

Then, in December Dr. Woelfel invited them to her new home, where they met her parents and warmed to their hospitality and the charm of old world customs. They have also sent packages overseas, been to camp, presented a lovely pageant before Christmas, and the play I told you about while we were home.

Bill, have you read Hugo's Les Miserables? We are reading it in French class now.

Senors and Senioritas

Friday

Dear Bill,

I was interested to hear about your Spanish Club, because we have one here at Madison, too. The officers of EL CLUB ESPANOL set out enthusiastically in the fall of this year to revive the club after several years of comparative inactivity.

First on their calendar was a Spanish Christmas party held in Senior Hall. In January the club sponsored an impressive Friday chapel program and in the spring carried out a project to increase the funds of the treasury. Later on they celebrated at their annual fiesta.

Dr. Martinez, the club's sponsor, contributes much to the spirit of the group with his stories of old Spain. And now I must say,

Hasta manana,

-- paints and palettes --

Dear Bill,

Having just come back from an art exhibit in the library, I am thinking how fortunate we are to have an ART CLUB here on campus. That club has done a good job this year. Tryouts, which were held in October, brought many new and talented members into the club. Their first job was decorating the gym for the Cosmopolitan Ball in November. The girls worked and worked on those huge magazine covers that adorned the walls of the gym. Remember? They were mighty proud of them and we were proud of the Art Club.

The club's biggest thrill was in sponsoring "Miss Madison of 1949." They bought a lovely gold cup for her and gave her a luncheon in the Tea Room.

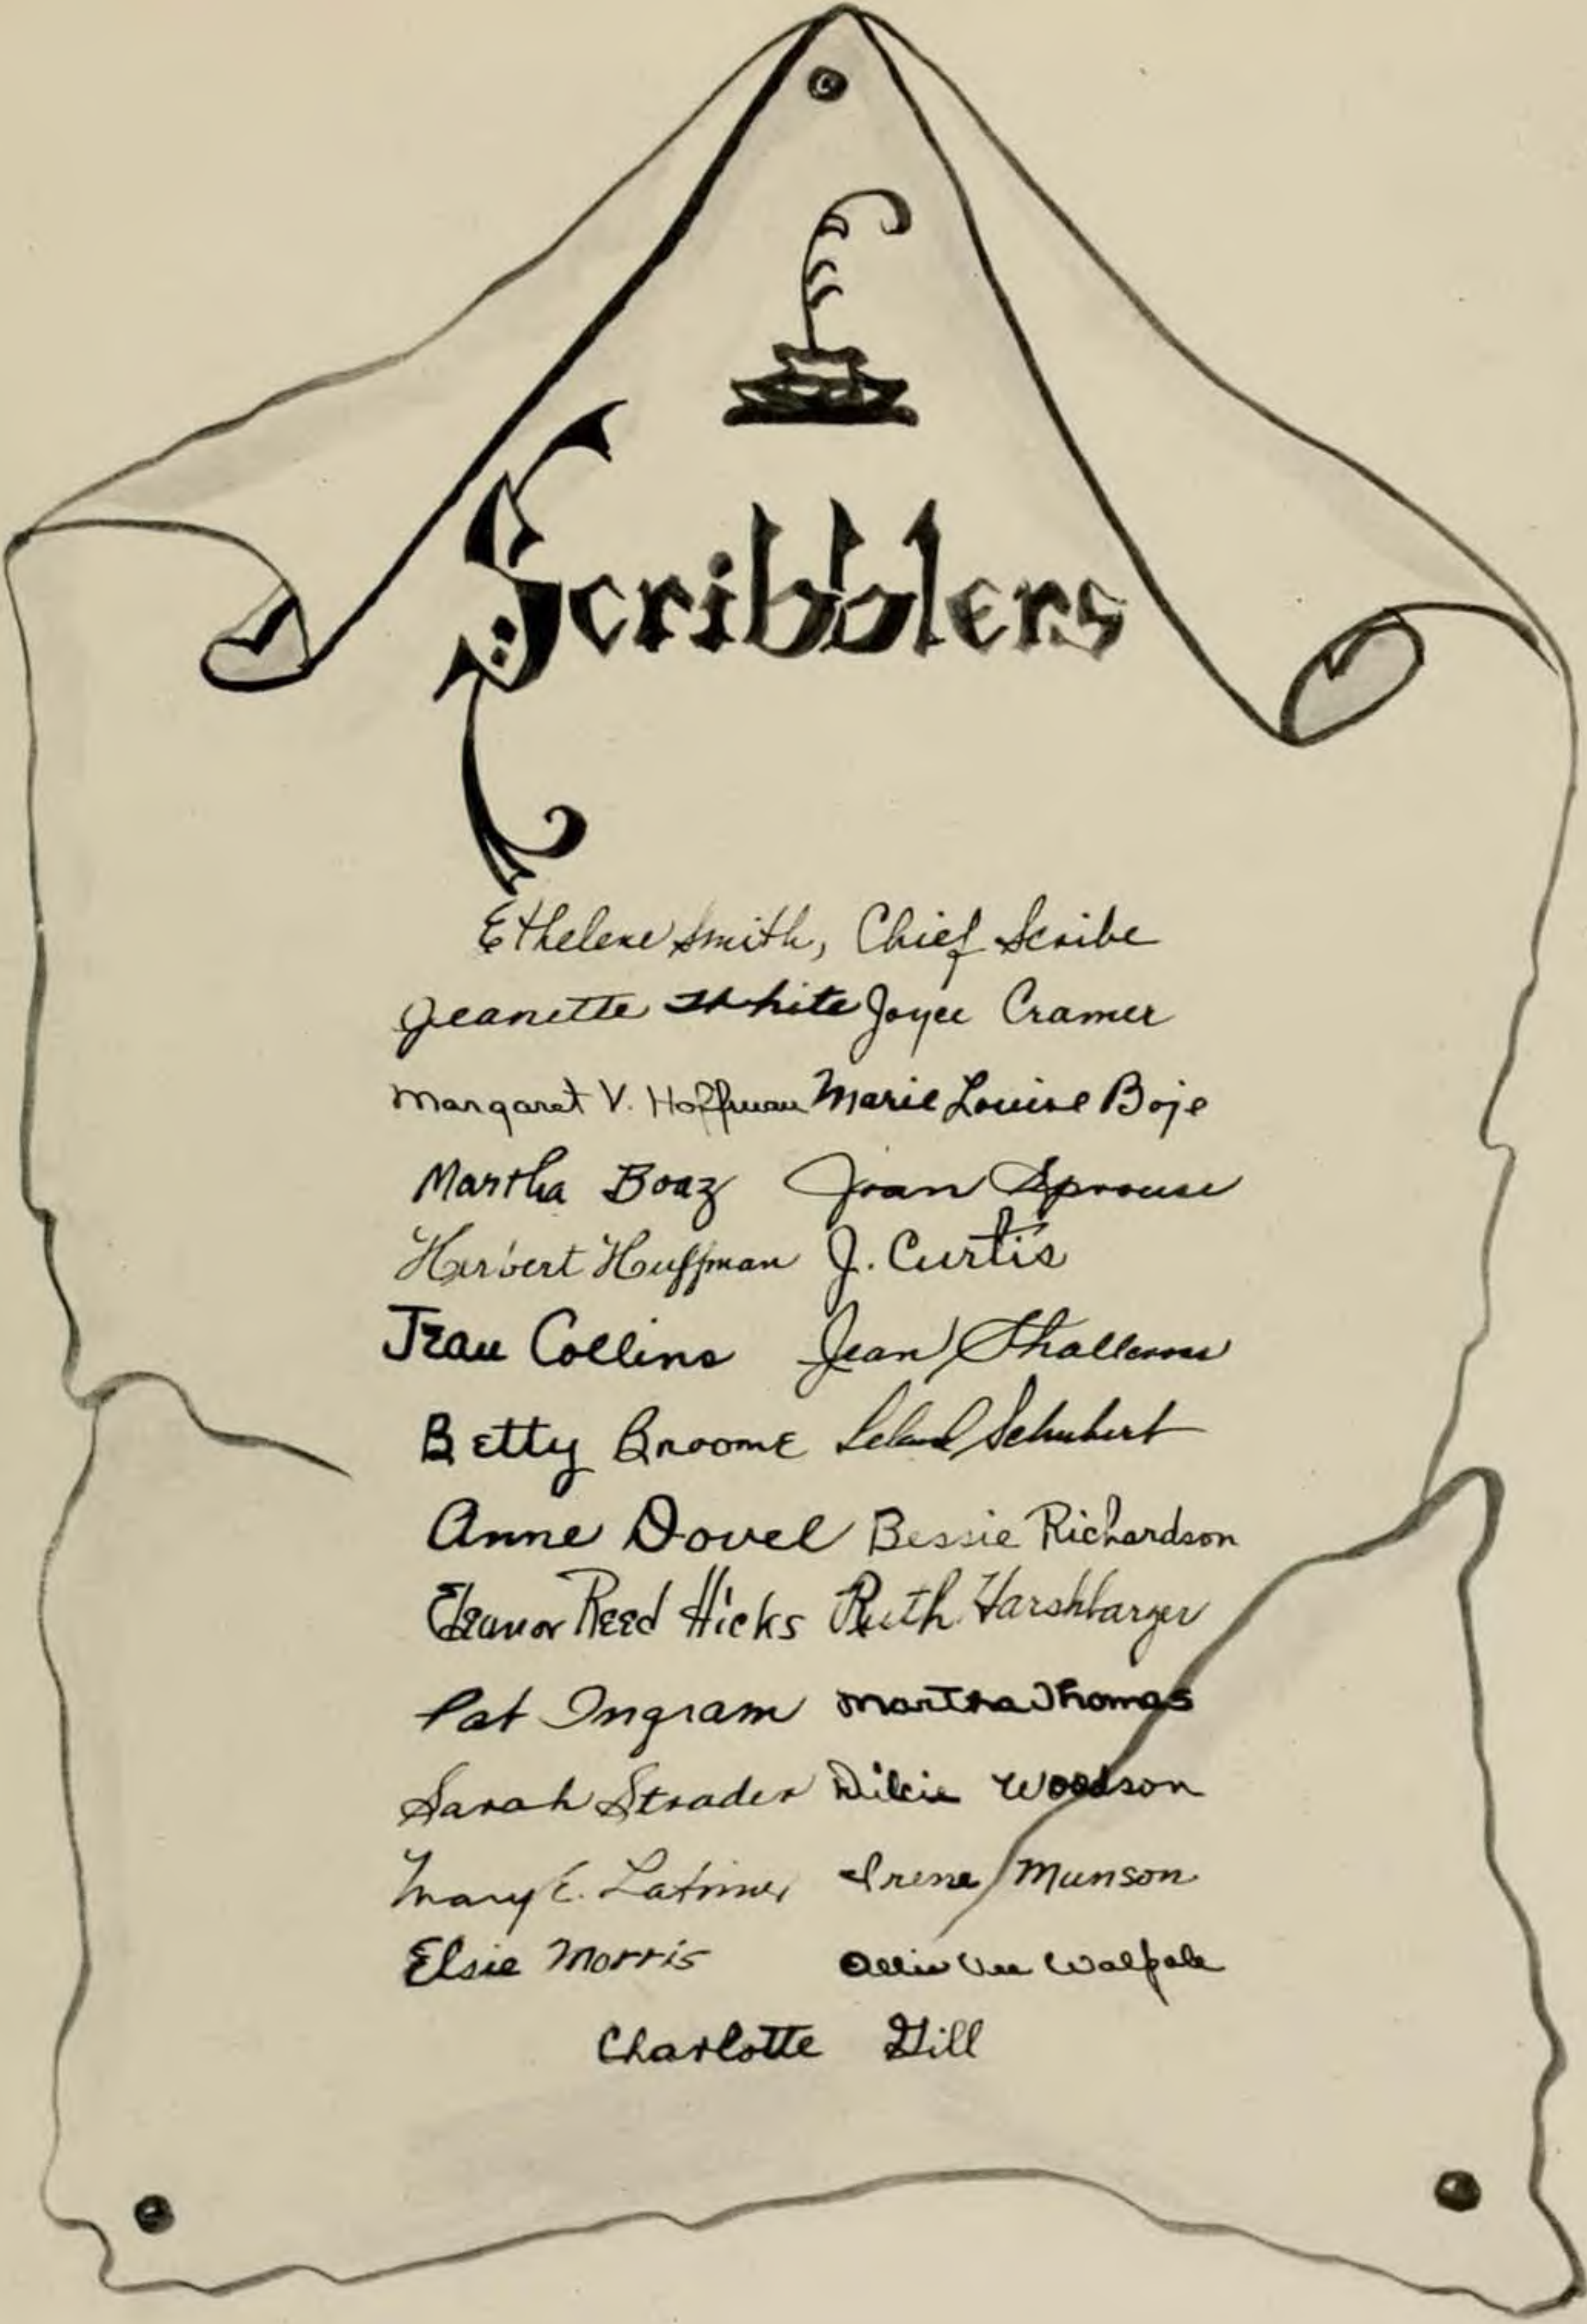

Membership in the Art Club takes a lot of time and hard work, but they tell me it's loads of fun and well worth the trouble.

Artfully yours,
Sue

"On with Science"

Dear Bill,

Have you noticed all the articles about the CURIE SCIENCE CLUB in the papers I've been sending you? This club has gloriously established its motto: "On with Science."

This year the members visited Endless Caverns, the University of Virginia Observatory, and the Mennonite Observatory. The main event of the year was the joint meeting of the science clubs of Bridgewater, Mary Baldwin, Shenandoah, and the Eastern Mennonite Colleges, featuring a speaker from the Virginia Academy of Science. In the spring several of the members represented Madison at the annual meeting of this Academy.

One of the foremost responsibilities of members is to present to the club a paper on original observations or on some recent development in the field of science. This is emphasized by Dr. Cool and Mr. Bocskey, their advisors, and Geraldine Neathery, their president.

It really sounds as if science is coming to the front, doesn't it, Bill?

Your favorite microbe,
Sue

--among the pots and pans--

Dear Bill,

I'm all inspired about home economics since talking to Miss Robertson and Mildred Ritchie, sponsor and president respectively of the FRANCES SALE CLUB.

This club, named for the first teacher of home economics at Madison, is really up and coming. In January it sponsored Sally Steele, an outstanding fashion expert, who spoke in Wednesday assembly. The club was proud to have Margaret Jessup elected state representative to the national convention at Minneapolis last summer. They were also very fortunate in having two of their members, Nancye Butterworth and Mildred Ritchie, attend the Province II Workshop at Carnegie Tech in Pittsburgh.

I guess I'll just have to learn how to cook and sew now. You can expect a box of cookies any day.

--in the business world

Dear Bill,

January, 1949

Not too much has been going on around school lately. However, our PI OMEGA PI, national business fraternity, made the headlines in The Breeze this week. Marilyn Lee, president, and Hazel Smith, secretary, will remember the Christmas holidays of 1948 for a long time because it was then that they went to the national convention in Detroit.

On April 6, Pi Omega Pi will observe its annual fraternity day. Mr. Milton Smith, General Counsel for the U. S. Chamber of Commerce in Washington, D. C., will be the speaker. That night the initiation of new members will follow a banquet to end their day.

Our Curriculum V seniors and business teachers throughout the Shenandoah Valley should gain valuable experience when they participate in a shorthand clinic, jointly sponsored by the Madison College Department of Business Education and the State Board of Education in Richmond.

By the way, Bill, is it the week end of the 15th that you are going to be in Richmond? Aunt Sarah wants to have you out for dinner.

--mixing business and pleasure--

Dear Bill,

Your Business club may be active, but have you heard of the MADISON BUSINESS CLUB? The members made an early start this year by giving a tea for all college students taking one or more business subjects. As a result of a drive for membership they now have eighty active members.

During the year they have had several guest speakers, as well as short movies on business subjects. In the spring they presented a fashion show,—and, Bill, you should have watched those models mix beauty and business!

The Business Club will end its year with the annual banquet, at which time the new officers will be tapped. To Miss Brady, their sponsor, goes much credit; her inspiration must have been abounding. Look what they have accomplished!

In a very businesslike manner, I remain

Dear Bill,

Well, I'm learning something new every day. After attending one of the DOLLY MADISON GARDEN CLUB programs, I feel as if I could go right out and plant one of the prettiest gardens you've ever seen.

The girls in the club really do seem to have a lot of fun; for, besides all their helpful programs on arrangement of flowers and tips for gardening, they help to beautify the buildings in the spring by placing cut flowers there.

The social and business meetings of this club are held in Senior Hall, but the secrets of the flowers, the shared joys of gardening, and the watching of nature's ways are all found out-of-doors. In all these activities, they are very lucky in having Dr. and Mrs. Showalter, avid gardeners themselves, as their sponsors.

Oh, Bill, I almost forgot! I must run along now and water my ivy.

From the grandstand --

Dear Bill,

The ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION has been as busy as ever this year. Our campus colleagues have come to know that wherever A. A. goes, success is sure to follow.

Under the leadership of Jane Grant, A. A. has participated in a number of activities, leading off with the Freshman picnic in September and ending with May Day exercises last week end. Remember? Between these two dates have come such things as entertainment for the visiting hockey and basketball teams, extramural trips, and the hockey tournament at William and Mary. Then, when Miss Applebee, the famous English hockey coach, came to Madison this year, A. A. almost turned cartwheels.

As in the past, A. A. sponsored all intramural sports, beginning with hockey in the fall and ending with softball in the spring. The intramural basketball tournament was a big event for everybody, even the losers. I should know because we lost!

Miss Janette Shaffer, sponsor of A. A., the physical education staff, the members of A. A. council, and many others have worked for A. A. this year. You've heard me talk of all of them so often.

By the way, Bill, did you make the baseball team? I'm taking exercises every night!

Sue

JEAN SHELLEY, President

"Won't you come over and play?"

Dear Bill,

You've heard me speak of all the physical education majors and minors here on campus, but have I ever told you of their club? They have one all their own, which they call MERCURY CLUB. Theirs has been among the most active clubs this year. One of their new projects has been keeping the bulletin board in Reed Hall up-to-date. They really did, too. Another big project was backing the sophomores in their recreation program on campus, along with drawing up plans for a recreation council.

The Mercury Club has had worthwhile meetings this year. Early in the fall they welcomed new members with a picnic supper, followed by planned recreation. Dr. Rodgers brought the first get-together to a climax with a talk. Mrs. Johnston, sponsor, entertained the officers of the club in her apartment, where they considered suggestions and plans for improvements.

The club was divided into teams of Purple and Gold for hockey, basketball, and softball. Mercury members also helped officiate at the intramural basketball games.

In May a fun-filled week end was spent at the college camp. All through the spring we've seen the Mercury Clubbers hiking back-campus, heard them singing new college pep songs written by their members, and watched them having a wonderful time with one another. They really have the spirit!

See you soon,

"Make that goal!"

Hello, Bill,

Remember the exciting HOCKEY game I told you about last winter? That was one of the intramural games in which Johnston Hall remained undefeated. From the group of a hundred or more students who participated in intramural hockey, a squad of thirty players was selected to play in extramural games.

In the extramural program Madison played the Alumnae and two games each with Sweet Briar and Westhampton and attended the annual State Hockey Tournament in Williamsburg. The team was justly proud of Catherine Cockrill and Henrietta Lanier, who were chosen for the Virginia Reserve Team, which played in the Southeastern District Tournament held in Baltimore, Maryland.

At the end of the season, the hockey team gave a banquet in honor of their coach and leader, Miss Janette Shaffer. I hope next year's team does as well as this year's. But, just think, Bill, I won't be here to see them.

45 ~ Love

May 22, 1949

Hiya, Bill,

The tennis club has ended the 1949 season with twenty-one new members and a brand new name, RACQUET CLUB. Ten new members joined in the fall and helped in making the spring closed-cup tournament a great event.

Jane Grant, title-holder when we were freshmen, captured the cup again in last fall's tournament—this time from finalist Mac Critzer. The club presented the champion with an engraved silver bracelet at a special get-together.

You know, Bill, Mrs. Hewett has steered that club through a great year. The Racquet-eers have attempted "to encourage and foster interest in tennis on the campus," and as far as I'm concerned, they've succeeded. I challenge you to a stiff game of tennis as soon as I get home!

Love (and not the tennis kind),

Sue

ARCHERY CLUB. B. Scott, E. Copley, secretary; J. Morrison, vice-president; L. Early, president; J. Shelley

--from the bowstring

Hi, Bill,

I had an apple shot from my head today—not by William Tell, but by a member of the ARCHERY CLUB! In the spring and with the first blades of grass, the Madison archers come with their bows and arrows to practice so that they will be ready for the annual spring archery tournament.

Never let it be said that Archery Club girls are selfish, because the joy of hitting bull's-eyes is not limited to members alone. All interested students are invited to learn to shoot, and the club members contribute their skill and knowledge in teaching the beginners the fundamentals of archery. That's how I came to try my skill today. I didn't do too bad, Bill, just missed my aim once and hit one of the library windows—and just when I was beginning to think I was a true daughter of William Tell, too!

Oh, well,

Sue

Girls of the Leotard

Dear Bill,

I was so pleased to hear the nice compliment from Jim about our MODERN DANCE CLUB. It has been very active this year, you know. The members practice an hour or more each week to develop technique and control, in addition to working out their own choreography. Isn't that a good word!

On December 1 Charles Weidman, who performed with his professional group for the whole school, conducted a master class of technique for club members. The girls, accompanied by their sponsor, Mrs. Hewett, went to Washington, D. C., on February 2, to see Martha Graham and her dance group. You've heard of her, haven't you?

The big dance recital that you spoke of in your letter was given on February 24 and featured such dances as "At the Art Gallery," "Hindu Dance," "Dance of the Rag Dolls," and "Green Grow the Rushes." The recital will be repeated in March for Homecoming week end. Perhaps you could come up for it then?

Sue

MODERN DANCE CLUB. First row: L. Early, B. Bosserman
Second row: S. White, A. McKechnie
Third row: S. Seay, L. Peterson, G. Albera, C. Fleshman, E. Chapman

Tale of a Fish

Dear Bill,

Thursday

You should have been with me last night at 9:00! I went by our swimming pool and saw the PORPOISE CLUB in action.

Natalie Bowman, the president, and Miss Savage, the sponsor, said that the girls had been working on advanced swimming and life saving. I know, though, that they have taken time out for fun at initiation and parties.

Now they're practicing for their water pageant to be held May 13. Wouldn't you like to see it?

Sue

PORPOISE CLUB. First row: E. Pinching, F. Jobson, G. Kellison, C. Graves, B. Hurdle, J. McKay, M. Moore, L. Foster

Second row: K. Travers, S. Hobbs, N. Rennie, M. Clark, N. Bowman, president; A. Lanier, reporter; D. Levine, N. Phillips

MADISON DUCHESSSES. First row: J. Cauley, E. Long, B. Ramsey, K. Blakemore, J. Shelley, C. Cockrill, M. Bluett, H. Lanier
Second row: R. Sorenson, L. Early, M. Reddout, S. Pickrel, J. Grant, M. Nethers, co-captain; B. Johnson, co-captain; I. Reynolds, L. Woodyard

"Hit that basket!"

Dear Bill,

You asked me about our girls' basketball team. Well, league play in the girls' intramural basketball tournament got under way on January 4 and continued in a round-robin tournament. An elimination tournament to determine the dormitory champions of the school followed. Irene Reynolds, a senior, along with Miss Ulrich, one of our physical education instructors, organized and scheduled the intramural program.

The extramural team was chosen from fifty-five players at several tryouts. From these players sixteen were selected to play on the squad.

The MADISON DUCHESSSES played through a successful season with Betsy Johnson as captain and Miss Ulrich as coach. The girls played Roanoke, Westhampton, and Sweetbriar Colleges. A game with the Alumnae during Homecoming week end climaxed the season for the Duchesses.

Have I told you all you wanted to know, Bill? You might be interested to know that I throw a "mean" basketball myself!

Love,
Sue

Sometimes it is the nature of a craft to create an unbreakable tie between itself and the worker in that field, a heart attachment equal to lifetime devotion. One familiar example is PRINTING. Once editor, once compositor, or pressman catches the spirit of the shop, the spell is seldom broken. Like the odor of a camp fire, or a whiff of salt air, the beloved tang of printer's ink, symbolical of a great profession, gets into your heart and soul. School Annuals, Magazines, Newspapers and Special Printing, all smack of it. It is an invisible link that binds all intelligence together. It is the stimulus for creation in business or romance. This craftsmanship, this devotion to service and alertness to business needs, has nourished and developed an enormous industrial vitality, and whichever way the course of the future runs, the printer will always find himself able to adapt his helpfulness to new opportunity.

Dear Bill,

June 6 1949

As the Walrus said to the carpenter,
"The time has come..." For us here the time has come to remember many things, for it's all over, this year at Madison.

We can't take Madison with us, but the memories are all ours. We'll have for always the memory of candlelight on the quadrangle, of Wilson in the snow, of the fire of red and yellow leaves on the peak.

Graduation exercises were over a few minutes ago and now everyone is leaving for home.
The folks are waiting and I'll have to go but I just wanted to tell you that it has been a dream, Bill -
a dream come true.

There'll be other years at Madison, I know,
but never a year quite like this one.

Love,
Sue
